Miniature Coracles

Coracle men used to make toy coracles to help them make money when they weren't able to fish in the river.

William Elias is seen making the miniature coracles to sell to tourists.

They are still made today but all money made goes to charity.

Small frames are put together and covered in the same way as the real coracles. Paddle, seat and knocker are also made.

Miniature coracles are used as gifts for sporting teams of Carmarthen when they tour abroad.
