

Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, for the meeting of that Assembly in Philadelphia, where they were received in due form into the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America. It was a dramatic scene. William Henry Roberts, D.D., LL.D., son of the venerable William Roberts, D.D., of the Welsh Church, who for thirty-five years had been Stated Clerk of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, received them. Dr. Roberts was in poor health and came to the platform of the Assembly in a wheel chair. His brief remarks, which closed with the words, "That they may be one—that they may be one," were very effective.

This is the conclusion of the story of union. The time for union had come. The Welsh Church as a separate body had a real mission, and no man can tell the extent of its service or the magnitude of its influence as an agency among the Welsh immigrant population and their descendants for several generations. But that particular form of service, where the Welsh language was especially required, had now become practically negligible. Our correspondence and similarity, in almost every detail of doctrine and polity, to the Presbyterian Church made union desirable and profitable, not only to the Welsh Church as such, but to the wider interests of the Kingdom of God as expressed through the channels of the Church.

APPENDIX

A. MINISTERS OF THE CHURCH

A LIST of the men who entered the ministry of the Calvinistic Methodist Church in America might be of interest. Here the names are listed alphabetically, with the time of entering, ordination, and the churches served. No attempt has been made to give details of the pastorates held by these ministers, but simply sufficient detail to identify the particular minister, where that is possible, and to differentiate him from the others of the same name.

To differentiate at times is very difficult, and in all probability some errors have been made. Information in some cases is very meager, and the men of the same name are many. For example, a Rev. John Jones appears, then another John Jones, and a third and fourth John Jones. When the John Joneses multiplied, one introduced a middle letter, as, for instance, John W. Jones. But which of the four did that? Or was John W. Jones a fifth John Jones? To disentangle these, for the early decades, is very difficult and, no doubt, some duplications of records appear for that reason. We have abundant illustrations of ministers adding a middle name, or letter, long after coming to America. We find David Williams, of Remsen, taking part in the ordination of David Williams, of Holland Patent, in 1851. Which is which? The two towns are about ten miles, or less, apart in Oneida County, New York. Later we learn that David Williams, of Remsen, became David Williams, of Chicago. In spite of possible errors, we believe the catalogue of the clergy may be of unique interest to certain Welsh readers. Some names may have escaped our notice but not many, and if any are missing, we regret the fact.¹

The expression "recd. as preacher" is frequently found here, and it means at the outset a licentiate under the care of presbytery. But later one was —“recd. as preacher” into the gymanva. And there is still a larger circle—“recd. as preacher” of the entire denomination. There were many of the latter designation who were not ordained. One might be licensed as a preacher of the entire denomination a long time before he was ordained. “Ord. by Pa.” means ordained by the Pennsylvania Gymanva.

“Pastorates” is a word used repeatedly in this record. It does not mean in all cases that the man was an installed pastor, but frequently refers to his location as a resident minister.

We have omitted the title “Rev.” preceding the names.

“Presbyterian Church” means the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America.
