

that I have got in the Guards.

Auntie Winnie has given me a lovely Dressing Case and bag to take with me and Aunt Lizzie has given me two pairs of socks. It was old Aunt Jane found the bag, an old one after Uncle David very considerate of them was it it.

As soon as I have arrived at my Quarters Letty I will write to you and give you my address, so that you may write to me and tell me what you think of me.

I sincerely hope that the first thing you will have to say is that you are all right again. I will be quite satisfied then.

Remember me to Aunt Olive. I wonder what will she say. is she all right? she has not been very well lately has she? I hope she is enjoying good health now.

P.S. Hope you understand my fearful writing. Look out for a change in the war news that I have joined in the 14th. well in 1914. I hope you will hear from me soon.

So Good Bye, Sister until I write again Your Loving Brother. David.

things rather awkward. I hope our dear old Navy will have it cleared of the German's Submarines soon, then I think it will be alright, just think how lovely it would be if we were to gether again, if only for a short time I simply long for the time Letty.

I am always thinking of you and the older we get the more I love you as a sister. I am going to take one of your Photographs with me. I am sure you will be proud of me being in the Guards, it is a fine regiment though newly formed, and they will only take a certain Stamp of men, they have to be of a special Height and Physical Development and I am very pleased they accepted me. I have been Doctoring my bad foot this long time worrying about, is that I may have to grow a Moustach, but that will be an easy matter, although I know I will look a guy. London wont be big enough to hold me in a few months time if I do.

And how do you feel with two brothers as Saldier's Letty. Do you hear from Jack sometimes. I expect you had his Photograph. if I were him I would have had it taken in his Kacki uniform instead of ^{his} Blue. He looks very smart though ~~as~~ he, He looks like Convict 99 with his hair cut so short. He is getting a fine time at Sandhurst. I daresay he tells you all about it. Don't he write comical letters. He is not a serious and crusty beggar like my self. I am just going to write to him after I have finished this. He will have a fit when he hears and it is not so bad ~~A~~ now. The Doctor did not look at it and said my teeth would do alright. I really failed the eyesight test, but managed to fake it, by looking a bit with my good eye, when reading the letters (which were placed a certain distance away) with my bad eye. Oh, yes they get you through all right now, and as long as the "Gun Eye" is alright they dont mind so much. I was marked down on the Test paper as. Physical Development 74. I dont know whether that means 74 out of 100, if it is so. I dont think it so bad. My Height is 5ft 10½ ins and I weigh 150 lbs. I was 39½" round the chest (Expanded) with a rate of expansion of 4". Of course I will be much bigger when I have had a good dose of ~~F~~ Exercises and Drills. The only thing I am
