Dear Dad.

I thank you for the Worthy Express, I should like to have it sent on every week, and also one of the weekly generalists, preferably the "London Observer," as something to read do vary the symptoms now & again.

Our Batt. is at present resting, not very far from the place where Jack got his W. Light, and we need the rest of being the first for a long time.
We may have some rest shortly, but I will drop you a line before then. Meanwhile, we are not having a bad time. The weather, this last few days, has been wet, creating much mud, and the other annoyance being that we are three companies under the same roof. The building is a large one, it has been a Cinema Hall at one time, but all the same we are a bit overcrowded.

The band of the Irish Col. (the Mich's) come here to entertain us yesterday, and it was really worth listening to. I hear that ours will be out here shortly it's their turn next I think.

I went to see the new War Film a few nights ago, it was exhibited in a neighbouring village a few miles away. It is
