A63.	Poultry Incubation Centre SABAH. (240C)	Chief Secretary, Jesselton, Sabah. (N. Borneo).	The scheme deals with the provision of improved stock through an incubation centre under Government control producing initially about 20,000 day-old chicks a year for distribution throughout Sabah. Day-old pullet chicks and cockerels will be imported and raised to serve as parent stock. It is expected that the project will be self-supporting after about one year. Estimated annual production of 1,000 layers will be 150,000 eggs, a proportion of which will be used for hatching and sale of chicks. Eventual profits will be placed in a reserve fund to be used for later expansion of the centre.	£4,765	PETERBOROUGH £4,765
A64.	Animal Food Production Plant. SABAH. (240D)	Chief Secretary, Jesselton, Sabah. (N. Borneo).	As costs of imported compounded animal feeding stuffs are very high it is proposed to set up a food mixing plant using local foods to make balanced rations for pigs and poultry, for supply to livestock owners in Sabah. The project will be self-supporting after the first year, on annual production of some 550 tons of feed, for which there is a more than adequate demand. It is proposed to produce two main rations, a protein concentrate and a carbohydrate ration.	£8,750	WIMBLEDON £4,000 ROMFORD £4,000

B40.	Badak Canal Lining Project for Irrigation, AFGHANISTAN. (365)	F.A.O. via Oxfam	The Badak Canal was originally constructed by the farmers of the Badak area when they first settled in the district. The water supply is essential to the area, but during flooding most of the water percolates through the unlined canal and is lost. The project is to line the Badak canal to prevent loss through percolation, using local labour, and also to provide a small diversion weir to tap all water during the dry season. A contribution will be made by the local population towards the cost of the scheme but they would be unable to pay for the whole work themselves in less than 10 years. The population is about 3,000 and the area is 900 square kms.	£12,640		Fully financed by Oxfam
