This family-run guesthouse in coastal Goodwick offers a range of accommodation options for all kinds of travellers to the beautiful Pembrokeshire coastal region.

Story

Nestled in an idyllic spot in the coastal village of Goodwick, Ivybridge Guesthouse is an ideal base from which to explore the Pembrokeshire coast. Owners Mark and Jan offer exquisite hospitality and a range of rooms to suit all needs, with accommodation suitable for families, walkers on the Pembrokeshire Coastal Path, cyclist tourists, solo business travellers, small groups and ferry passengers. This family-run guesthouse is the ideal location to overnight while passing through, or to base yourself while spending time in the beautiful Pembrokeshire region.

Ivybridge Guesthouse offers 14 rooms, which include self-catering options, family spaces and self-contained flats, as well as a spacious enclosed garden furnished with seating areas and barbecue facilities for guest use. It offers breakfast, excellent Wifi, heated cloths rails and laundry facilities, and ferry pickups and drop-offs can be arranged. Mark and Jan are experienced hospitality experts, with 20 years of 5-star hospitality management experience in the UK and Asia, so you are assured of excellent, warm service, whatever your needs as a guest.

Ivybridge Guesthouse is conveniently located just 15 minutes walk from the seafront, via a wooded walkway leading under the historic 'ivy bridge', over which the train ran ferrying stone to the seafront in the early 20th century. Ivybridge Guesthouse takes its name from this historic bridge, and brings its own special magic to the site. You can't miss the distinctive 'Helter Skelter', salvaged by Mark from the scrap-heap during seafront renovations – turn left and you'll find Ivybridge Guesthouse waiting to welcome you!
