

No 12

LLANTRITHYD

A RINGWORK IN SOUTH GLAMORGAN

CARDIFF ARCHAEOLOGICAL SOCIETY

LLANTRITHYD
A Ringwork in South Glamorgan

"... the Llantrithyd excavations can be said to have occasioned perhaps the biggest single advance in our understanding of the Medieval coinages of Wales since ... (1916) ..."

Michael Dolley,
Professor of Historical Numismatics,
The Queen's University of Belfast.

Between 1960 and 1969 the Cardiff Archaeological Society excavated a Norman ringwork at Llantrithyd in South Glamorgan and the report on the site is now available.

The discovery of the remains of a 'hoard' of silver coins during the excavations excited considerable comment at the time and provided a dated context for the site. Together with the quantity and richness of the other finds, they make this early base of Norman expansion into Wales of some importance to those interested in the Medieval period.

Chapters on the excavations and interpretation of the evidence are followed by specialist reports on the finds and a comprehensive historical background.

Contributors:	PETER WEBSTER (Editor)	Pottery
	IAN H. GOODALL	Metalwork
	MICHAEL DOLLEY	Coins
	H. N. SAVORY	Prehistoric Finds
	B. A. NODDLE	Mammalian Bones
	D. BRAMWELL	Bird Bones
	A. JONES	Fish Bones
	J. BARRY DAVIES	Historical Background

Details: A4 portrait, approximately 110 pages including 25 drawings and 7 plates. Limited edition.
ISBN 0 9505846 0 6

Price: £3 plus 35 pence postage and packing.

To obtain your copy please complete the form below.

Please send mecopy/copies of "Llantrithyd": A Ringwork in South Glamorgan". I enclose
£3 per copy plus 35 pence postage and packing.

Name

Address

.....
.....
(Please use block capitals)

Cheques should be made payable to the Cardiff Archaeological Society and addressed c/o Staff
Tutor in Archaeology, Department of Extra-Mural Studies, University College, Cardiff, 38/40 Park Place, Cardiff. CF1 3BB.